New Chronicles of Rebecca

By KATE DOUGLAS WIGGIN

Author of "Rebecca" and "The Birds' Christmas Carol."

Published April 17

Order Early

"A nicer, jollier girl never danced through the pages of fiction."

—The Interior.

Mrs. Wiggin's new story will be one of the most welcome books of the year. Rebecca is a favorite in the hearts of thousands. She has become almost a national character, as she certainly embodies a national type. Native wit and wholesome charm of untrammelled American girlhood brighten every page. Rebecca's old friends figure largely in these new episodes of her life in Riverboro—Abijah, Mrs. Cobb, Emma Jane, and the others. It is a story glowing with humor, full of human kindness and winning realism.

THIRD EDITION NOW PRINTING

EVERY MAN A KING

Or, MIGHT IN MIND MASTERY

By ORISON SWETT MARDEN

12mo, cloth, $1.00 net. Postage 10 cents.

"The Highest Compliment Possible"

"I have read every word of it and am now on the second reading. It has done me good, as all Dr. Marden's fine books have, as it is uplifting, optimistic, sane and practical. You will be interested to know, I am sure, that I have every work Dr. Marden has ever given to the public, and I very much prize them and urge my boys to read them, as I have done. This is the highest compliment possible from me regarding the books' great value, as my boys and their highest development are, naturally, very close to my heart."

—From the Commandant of a Military Academy.

"Has Changed Me," says a Millionaire

"Under the doctor's advice I have spent the past three days at home, and have put in the time every day reading 'Every Man a King.' It has done me a great deal of good, and has changed me so that I am anxious to give a good word to everybody in the future."—From the President of a Great Shoe House.

"Strikes the Keynote of Life"

"For years I have been an admirer of Dr. O. S. Marden and have read about all that he has written. His latest book strikes the keynote of life. It ought to be put in the hands of every young man."—From a Reader.

"From Despair to Delight"

"It is a superb work and is sure to transport many a man from despair to delight. I believe it will have upon my life a more profound effect than any book I have ever possessed."—From a Reader.

"A Real Nugget of Gold"

"I am delighted with the book. I shall always treasure it as one of my most precious literary possessions, a real nugget of gold that has given me renewed inspiration and encouragement and a truer conception of the great possibilities of the mind over matter."—From the Principal of a Commercial College.

"A Philosophy of Optimism"

"Strong, wise, sound, pleasant, helpful, well written—these are only a few of the complimentary adjectives which can honestly be applied to this book. The title may be a good one from many points of view, but it hardly denotes the whole scope of the book, which is really a delightful expression of modern practical philosophy. That it is a philosophy of optimism it is needless to say."

—ALICE BROWN, in Ohio State Journal.

"His Attention was Fixed"

"We know a boy of seventeen who found this book in his room on his arrival after a hard day's work. He resolved to go to bed early, but opened the book first. His attention was fixed from the first page, and presently he was surprised to find that he had lost several hours' sleep."—Richmond County Advance.

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & CO., NEW YORK

AN IMMEDIATE SUCCESS

"The book is full of excitement and breathless interest from cover to cover."

—N. Y. Herald.

"The story is full of snap, full of real life and adventure—a real heart-stirring romance."—New Haven Journal.

WHEN Paul Langford started in to put an end to cattle-rustling in his part of South Dakota, he and the county attorney had to make the fight alone—the thieves owned nearly everyone else. But there was strength and determination back of it, and there was an abiding faith in the power of the Three Bars ranch to make things happen. Two high spirited girls play a brave part in this exciting tale of a fighter of the right sort, and make it a delightful love story as well.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY have just ready "The Brass Bowl," a new detective story by Louis Joseph Vance, of which the heroine belongs to the New York "400."

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & Co. have in press the third edition of Dr. Orison Swett Marden's stimulating book, "Every Man a King, or, Might in Mind Mastery."

D. APPLETON & Co. will publish at once "The Isle of Dreams," a delightful romance of charming lovers and humorous children, by Myra Kelly, who has endeared herself to a large public by her charming descriptions of real life.

THE CENTURY COMPANY have just ready "Partners of Providence," by Charles D. Stewart, author of "The Fugitive Blacksmith," a book full of rich and racy humor, telling of the happy-go-lucky life on the Mississippi and Missouri rivers fifty years ago, with upwards of 100 illustrations by C. J. Taylor. Agnes Repplier called "The Fugitive Blacksmith" "a masterpiece," and says that Mr. Stewart's new book is "away and away ahead of it."

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have just ready "Aunt Jane of Kentucky," by Eliza Calvert Hall, "a masterpiece of rural character delineation, native humor and homespun philosophy," with illustrations by Beulah Strong; "Ackroyd of the Faculty," by Anna Chapin Ray, a story of life in one of the largest universities, embodying a study of social maladjustment, with a hero who is a "misfit;" also, "Under the Harrow," by Ellis Meredith, which deals with a talented girl's chances of success in the business world of New York City.

THE C. M. CLARK PUBLISHING COMPANY are about to publish "Darefoot," by Herbert Edward Bogue, which is said to combine a history of the achievements of a Vermont regiment during the war between the States, and a truthful description of one of those camping parties in which Green Mountain folk delighted long before the days when Murray led the way to the wilderness in the neighboring State. They will also publish shortly "Fires of Desire," by Laurence R. Mansfield, and "Christy of Rathglin," by James Riley, the author of the brilliant defense of the Catholic Irish-American soldiers against certain Orange assailants, desirous, as he expressed it, of "importing patriots to help us keep out Rome."

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish on April 6 "Indiscreet Letters from Peking," by B. L. Putnam Weale, the author of "The Reshaping of the Far East," etc., the story of the siege of the legations in Peking. It is not a history, but the story of the dramatic scenes and events told by an eye-witness. Reading the book one sees the worn and harassed defenders of the legations in scene after scene of grim fighting, beating back the hordes of Chinese soldiers. The book in telling the story of 1900 is an explanation of much that is going to happen. They will bring out at the same time "The Whirlpool of Europe—Austro-Hungary and the Habsburgs," by Archibald R. and E. M. Colquhoun, a succinct and comprehensive account of the dual monarchy which is agitated by a number of racial and political problems that may at any time revolutionize the Continent and alter the course of modern history. The volume will have 100 reproductions of original drawings of characteristic types, street scenes, old cities, etc., and nearly forty original maps and diagrams. Three other books to be published with the above are "The Thinking Machine," a story of mystery, by Jacques Futrelle, and two novels—"The Penalty," by Harold Begbie, author of "The Story of Baden-Powell," etc., and "Davenant," by Albert Kinross, who makes his hero dream of America, whose ideal above all is America.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk **, and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. Askew, Alice and Claude. The Shulamite. Rev. ed.; with two por. N. Y., Brentano's, 1907. 320 p. D. cl., $1.50

The Shulamite is a Boer woman of surpassing beauty, with passions wholly unmastered by civilization, who is put in contrast with an English spoiled darling of fortune devoted to frivolity and conventionality. Robert Waring, an Englishman, combining in his dual nature the characteristics of both women, is tossed by circumstances from the natural woman to the doll woman. He goes as overseer to the African farm and rescues the Shulamite from her old adoring but brutal husband by shooting him to save her life. The woman loves the Englishman and hates the rival he tells her stands between them. A complicated plot leaves him the victim of the Shulamite's African superstitions. Fine study of Boer conditions. The portraits of two actors in the play made from this story appear in the book.

The couple have a sincere admiration for each other, have wealth, rank and most attractive personalities. But after a few years of wedded life the man discovers that the woman is not his affinity. There is no quarrel, but their interests are no longer mutual, and the husband easily falls a prey to the fascinations of a wild Australian cousin of his wife who comes to visit them. The cousin meets with a violent death and for twenty years afterward the husband lives alone with his broken heart. Then the desire comes to again see Isabel—the cousin. He visits spiritualists and mediums, makes a study of re-incarnation, some remarkable and dramatic events following. The author wrote "The garden of Asia," "The house of shadows," etc.

King, Basil. The giant's strength. N. Y., Harper, 1907. c. '06. 342 p. D. cl., $1.50.

A novel by the author of "Let not man put asunder." Paula Trafford, the heroine, is the daughter of a man of many millions, the head of a great coal monopoly. She is about to marry the Duke of Wiltshire when accident makes known to her how the world condemns her father's methods of acquiring wealth. Accident also brings her into contact with Roger Winship, a young portrait painter, who is the son of a man whom Paula's father had ruthlessly pushed to the wall in business. Paula adores her father and determines to let the world see she believes in him. She asks the Duke to release her from her engagement, and her one thought from thenceforward is to help the Winship family and bring her father to a realization of the error of his business ways. He finally makes broad restitution.

Kyle, G: A. The Morning Glory Club; with a front. in colors by Arthur O. Scott. Bost., L. C. Page & Co., 1907. c. 250+4+12 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The leading women of the little New England town of Manville organized themselves into the Morning Glory Club. The chief object of the association was to show how well they could manage without "the other sex." All the little heart-burnings and ill-natured gossip of a little place are worked into the story. The club finally has a really good influence. A young school teacher has most to do with the teaching of the necessity "to live and let live."

A conservative statement of to-day's knowledge of spiritism and hypnotism, their history and their probably natural character. "Hypnotism is absolutely reprehensible, immoral . . . but sometimes may be applied in public courts . . . and in medicine. . . Spiritism is always dangerous, harmful, immoral . . . to be most severely prohibited without reserve, in all its grades . . . with the rare exception, perhaps, of the study of certain manifestations, either spontaneous or induced in certain cases only . . . by persons authorized . . . who do not themselves participate directly in the provocation of the spiritistic phenomena to be studied."—Conclusion. Author was chief physician to the Pope. Bibliography (2 p.).

Lodge, Sir Oliver. The substance of faith allied with science: a catechism for parents and teachers. N. Y., Harper, 1907. c. 8+144 p. D. cl., $1 net.

Sir Oliver Lodge is one of the great scientists of the day and author of "Modern views on matter." He is a leader in the movement commonly termed the "new thought," which seeks to show complete harmony between science and religion. Throughout, his religious philosophy, keenly analytical though it is, is not destructive, but the reverse. It aims at doing away with a too literal interpretation of the Scriptures while at the same time retaining the vital truths that lie at the bottom of real religion.

The author is former president of the American Entomological Society and vice-president of the Phila. Academy of Natural Sciences and author of "American spiders and their spinning-work." This is a record of fascinating facts about ants, bees, wasps and other insects, and is the result of years of the closest observation of insect life by both a nature-lover and scientist. The author shows ants at work and play, doing sentinel duty, going on outings, milking the "ant-cow" and capturing prisoners for slavery, etc. He shows flying spiders travelling for miles by clinging to silken filaments. He shows bees burrowing in the earth and wasps capturing grasshoppers and bees, with many other marvellous things.

An address made by Ambassador Reid in the summer of 1906 before Cambridge University. It traces the chief forces which went into the building of a new nation (the United States) and the merging of separate and at first widely distinct colonies into a single government which has rapidly risen to a position of commanding power in world politics.

Inasmuch as the report of the Interstate Commerce Commission shows that for the year ending June 30, 1904, there were in the United States 10,017 persons killed and 93,888 persons injured, the author of this book, a practical railroad man, thinks that for the sake both of the public and of railroad employees the causes of accidents should be investigated and remedies for prevention applied. Therefore, he illustrates certain kinds of accidents by specific cases of recent occurrence, all of which might have been avoided by proper care and thoughtfulness on the part of employees, as "accidents caused by carelessness, thoughtlessness and neglect of employees are the large majority of all that happen." In conclusion there are suggestions and appendix of operating rules.

This new biography of Julie de Lespinasse throws light upon the hitherto obscure history of her birth, early life and education. She was the illegitimate daughter of the Countess d'Albon, and was born at Lyons in 1732 and died in 1776. She grew up under her mother's protection and shared the educational advantages of her legitimate brother and sister. Many other details of her career and of her amours, illumined by fervent love letters, give to the work the fascination of a novel. Mrs. Humphry Ward, in her novel of "Lady Rose's daughter," made use of the more notable events in her life.

Shakespeare, W.: Much adoe [sic] about nothing; ed., with notes, introd., glossary, list of variorum readings, and selected criticism, by Charlotte Porter and Helen A. Clarke. Sinclair, May. The Tysons (Mr. and Mrs. Nevill Tyson). N. Y., Henry Holt & Co., 1907. 4+298 p. D. cl., *$1.50.

Chiefly a character study of three unusual English types. Nevill Tyson, after an adventurous life as soldier and reporter in many parts of the globe, finds himself, at thirty-five, the owner of a fine estate in suburban England. He marries a pretty girl half his age and settles down to the life of a country gentleman. Shortly his intimate friend, Captain Stanistreet, comes to pay him a long visit, and the three people by the eccentricities of their speech and acts so shock their neighbors that they are excluded from all society. An intense story follows, in which the innocent young wife is a pathetic figure. It closes with a dramatic episode in the Soudan. By the author of "The divine fire."

Stewart, C. D.: Partners of Providence; il. by C. J. Taylor. N. Y., Century Co., 1907. c. 12+538 p. D. cl., *$1.50.

Those who enjoyed the racy humor of the author's previous story, "The fugitive blacksmith," will want to read this. It is a story of life on the Mississippi and Missouri steamboats told in the vernacular. The partners are Sam and his dog Rags, and Clancy—the latter a warm-hearted, picturesque wanderer known as "the tosser," and together they share the luck, good, bad and indifferent, of their roving life.

Thurston, Ernest Temple. Katherine: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1907. c. 330 p. front. D. cl., $1.50.

By the author of "Traffic." Katherine Crichton, young, handsome, full of fire and life, longing for the romance that she has never had, suddenly learns that as the insidious, physical result of an accident she has but two more years to live. Her husband is rich and a prominent member of Parliament. He worships her and does his utmost to make her happy, but without success. She determines that if her life is to be brief she will snatch from fate the happiness she has yearned for. Then comes a Captain Seyd, whom she imagines she loves, a tragedy being averted on the very brink of disaster. Her husband rises to unexpected heights of nobility and generosity, and the surgeons discover their diagnosis was a mistake and that Katherine has a long life before her and all ends well.

Vance, L: Jos. The brass bowl; with il. by Orson Lowell. Indianapolis, Ind., Bobbs-Merrill Co., [1907.] c. 380 p. D. cl., $1.50.

A detective story. A New York young, rich man about town, a burglar of jewels who resembles him so as to throw even detectives off the track, a lawyer of good standing who gives points to thieves by way of excitement, a young girl of the 400 who purloins papers from the safe to help her father out of a lawsuit, midnight automobile rides and break-downs, rides on elevators in thirty-one story buildings in early morning hours, with shots between the cars ascending and descending—surely here is material! Jewels are stolen from a safe in Long Island. The circumstances lead to love at first-sight. The "brass bowl" is used to cover the impression of a woman's hand on a dusty table in bachelor apartments.

Watson, Gilbert. A caddie of St. Andrews. N. Y., Henry Holt & Co., 1907. 373 p. front. D. cl., $1.50.

By the author of "Three rolling stones in Japan." The hero, "Skipper," once a fisherman owning his own boat, is a caddie on the St. Andrew's golf links. He has a passion for travel and adventure which nothing can satisfy. He also has a love story, which does not come to a satisfactory ending. Much care is given to the delineation of his character; he is humorous and enthusiastic, somewhat given to whiskey drinking, but not without lovable and even heroic qualities.

Wells, D: Dwight. Parlous times: a novel of modern diplomacy. N. Y., Henry Holt & Co., 1907. c. '00. 439 p. D. cl., $1.50.

First published by J. F. Taylor & Co. in 1900. With wit and humor the story is told of a daring plot entered into by several English manufacturers to bribe the members of the cabinet of a South American republic to vote against a proposed treaty with Great Britain, which if passed will affect certain business interests. The most important thing is to get the bribe—$40,000 in gold—out of the country. This is attended with many odd adventures. The chief actor in the exciting scenes is the young secretary to the London Legation from South America. He is sent by his chief for an indefinite visit to a country house to watch the plotters. He not only succeeds in getting the whole story and the evidence, but also the money.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

EMILIO MARTINI, Prefect of the Biblioteca Nazionale at Naples, and Domenico Bassi, librarian of the Brera, at Milan, after twelve years' labor have completed the catalogue of the Greek Manuscripts in the Bibliotheca Ambrosiana. Hitherto it has been impossible for scholars to obtain information of this splendid collection, comprising about eleven hundred Greek manuscripts, unless they went to Milan and laboriously worked their way through the manuscript catalogue of the 17th, 18th and 19th centuries—an undertaking practically denied to those whose time was limited or who lived at a distance.

THE SOCIETY OF ICONOPHILES, New York City, has published a very welcome book in "An Index to the Illustrations in the Manuals of the Corporation of the City of New York, 1841-1870," commonly known as "Valentine's Manuals." The work contains a list of the plates and maps in the Manuals—the volumes being arranged chronologically; a list of the maps and plans of the city of New York and vicinity, arranged chronologically from 1643 to 1870, with a list of the miscellaneous maps appended; a list of the facsimiles—letters, signatures, documents, broadsides and certificates; also, a general index, in one alphabet, to all the illustrations. The lists are prefixed by an introduction by William Loring Andrews, giving a sketch of David Thomas Valentine, to whom the antiquarian owes a debt which will be estimated at its true worth only after the face of old New York has been completely changed. A photograph of Valentine, etched by C. W. Jarvis, forms the frontispiece. (18+107 p. 12°, cl. 250 copies.)

THE LIBRAIRIE DAMASCENE MORGAND, (Ed. Rahir, successor,) Paris, has just brought out "La Bibliothèque de l'amateur. Guide sommaire à travers les livres anciens les plus estimés et les principaux ouvrages modernes," by

Edouard Rahir, the well-known antiquary and proprietor of one of the famous bookshops of the world. The work is based on the catalogues of Rahir's book shop, which in its day has owned nearly every known famous book. For this reason M. Rahir may safely claim that his catalogue is a guide to the most valuable specimens of the printer's art in all ages and countries. The catalogue is arranged by subjects, (1) Books notable for their literary value, for example, (a) literary works, (belles lettres;) (b) theology, law, science, art, geography and history; (2) Illustrated Works; (3) Rare or valuable specimens of printing, and alphabetically by author or title. M. Rahir supplies an introduction of special interest to the young collector as well as to the bookseller. (456 p. 8°, pap., 10 fr.)

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

MARCH 30, 1907.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

RAISING THE PRICE OF FICTION.

WHILE the press in this country and in England has been discussing the possibility of putting out new fiction at lower prices than now prevail, the retail book trade in Chicago has joined in a movement to put the price of $1.50 fiction from 98 cents or $1.08 up to $1.18. This is noteworthy because, owing to certain legal restrictions as to trade regulation, the rules of the American Publishers' Association were practically inoperative in Chicago. What is still more worthy of note is that the Chicago booksellers, according to all reports, have not the least difficulty in getting the increased price, and sell quite as many, if not more, novels at $1.18 as they did at 98 cents and $1.08.

The example of the Chicago trade is stimulating the retail booksellers in Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Providence and several other cities to institute a similar movement looking to the advancing of the price of fiction to $1.10 or $1.15 and possibly to $1.18 and $1.20—not at once, but by easy stages. Some booksellers in certain of these cities have never retailed fiction below $1.18 since the reform movement was inaugurated, and no one of them has ever wavered in his stand, even in face of the spasmodic competition of the department stores.

The ability to raise prices will, of course, depend upon local conditions and the quality of the trade to which the bookseller caters. In many localities bookbuyers rarely question prices when making purchases, insisting simply upon prompt and intelligent service. In other localities buyers do question prices, often indeed very closely, and quibble even at the lowest figures quoted, no matter how prompt or intelligent the service may be. In the one case the bookseller probably will be obliged to extend more or less credit, in the other case his credit accounts probably will be few and the transactions chiefly cash. If his clients demand long-time credit, as most gilt-edged custom does, it is obvious that retailing $1.50 fiction at $1.08 is not profitable; indeed, it may be a losing business, unless the deficit can conscientiously be charged to the advertising account. On the other hand, if the transactions are chiefly in cash and the turnover frequent enough there need be less anxiety as to losses, provided stock has been laid in carefully and strictly to meet the probable needs of the bookseller's trade. But, in neither case, is the selling of fiction at the minimum price much of a "business proposition;" and in view of the increasing cost of manufacture and of doing business, the bookseller seems to be justified in resorting to legitimate means of making ends overlap rather than of taking the risk of having them meet only as near as possible.

It has been our own feeling that the price of fiction should go down nearer to a dollar than further up, and particularly that the publisher's advertised price should be the actual retailing price as with present net books; but so far as fixing the prices of books is concerned, the publisher probably has reached the limit so far as the downward trend is concerned, he himself being confronted on all sides with the upward trend in everything that enters into the manufacture and distribution of books. Until a reaction downward sets in, therefore, the bookseller, as every other retailer is obliged to do, must look to the consumer to help him bear the burden of prosperity.

IOWA DISCOURAGES FOREIGN TRADE.

IOWA is making an effort to protect its merchants by means of a bill, known as the Bruce Bill, and numbered Senate 201, which specifically prohibits the taking of orders or the soliciting of orders for any kind of merchandise whatever outside of incorporated towns until the salesman or solicitor has secured a license from the county in which such soliciting is to be done. The fee for such license is to be one hundred dollars and the license is not transferable.

Quite apart from other considerations, which chiefly concern the citizens of the State of Iowa, the enactment of such a law would render it impracticable for most publishers to send to Iowa representatives carrying specimens of their current and forthcoming publications to present to the attention of the booksellers throughout the State.

Iowa is, of course, to be classed with the most intelligent of the communities in the country, and its towns are important, in proportion to their population, among the towns that purchase higher class literature, and it is to be assumed that there is an advantage to the State, as well as to the authors and publishers, in having such literature kept on the counters of the book shops and made available for the inspection of libraries and of other purchasers.

It is just likely that the Bruce Bill is not intended to prevent this kind of trade, but as the provisions are now worded, such trade would be prevented, and the publishers would have to instruct their travellers to omit from their trips the State of Iowa. For that reason it is to be hoped that the bill may not receive the signature of the Governor, and propaganda towards that end should be made.

COMBINATIONS TO MAINTAIN PRICES NOT ILLEGAL IN GERMANY.

THE Prussian Supreme Court of Judicature recently sustained the decision of the Berlin County Court against A. Jandorf & Co., proprietors of a well-known department store in Berlin in a suit brought by Jandorf against the Association of Manufacturers of Proprietary Articles, of the same city, to restrain the defendants from blacklisting the plaintiffs for underselling certain of their articles. The Association of Manufacturers of Proprietary Articles numbers sixty members, all of them manufacturers of cosmetics, tooth pastes, toilet articles, etc., who combined to protect their goods by fixing on each article a minimum price below which such article could not be sold. According to their rules the members of the Association agreed to cut off the supplies of any dealer who undersold an article of even one of the members of the Association. The goods were sold to the wholesale dealers under a special agreement to maintain prices, and the wholesale dealers in turn sold the goods to the retailers, under a similar agreement.

The Jandorf store, two years ago, offered certain widely-advertised toilet articles manufactured by two members of the Association, ordinarily sold for fifty pfennigs, at forty-five pfennigs, and when warned to desist declared itself ready to do so if other undersellers were obliged to conform. When the manufacturers had succeeded in bringing the other undersellers to terms and notified Jandorf of the fact that firm refused to cease underselling the articles in question. Thereupon the Association, in April, 1905, notified their jobbers to warn their constituents against dealing with the Jandorf concern, which promptly brought suit. In the lower court the defendants were sustained on the ground that as each individual is legally justified in fixing a price upon his manufactures and to protect that price, so a number of individuals may legally co-operate and exclude an offender against their rules even if he undersells only one article of a single member of such a combination. The court considered that such combinations are the result of the economic struggle in which the individual manufacturer is threatened with injury if not destruction by the ever-increasing mammoth mercantile establishments, and, in self-defense, is obliged to combine with others forced into a similar predicament. The higher court concurred in this view and the decision was sustained.

THE CONGREGATIONAL S. S. AND PUB. CO. ROBBED.

It is charged that systematic thefts covering a period of several years have depleted the treasury of the Congregational Sunday School and Publishing Company at Boston to the extent of $12,000. There will be a thorough overhauling of the affairs of the corporation, and an upheaval of the directorate is expected at the annual meeting on April 1, when a committee consisting of five clergymen will take part in the choice of a board of directors.

As much as 400,000 pounds of printing paper costing  $3\frac{3}{4}$  cents a pound has been stolen, it is alleged. Persons implicated are said to be known, and \$2500 has been recovered. A civil suit is in process, but no criminal action has been taken.

THE AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY AC- CUSED OF BEING A "TRUST."

THE New York World, on March 25, printed a sensational attack on the American Bible Society under the "scare" head of "Trust Controls Price of Bibles Like Oil or Sugar." Considering that any one in this country with ready money or credit enough may print Bibles to his heart's content, and that in England it requires only a license from the Crown to print an edition of the Bible, and that, as a matter of fact, there are a dozen firms or more in this country and in England that turn out thousands of Bibles and Testaments every year for Protestants and Catholics, and in almost every language, at from less than ten cents apiece upward, the charge against the American Bible Society that it is a "trust" and pursues methods "no different from those of the Standard Oil Company" certainly has no force, and needs reconstruction.

The administration of the American Bible Society and its methods of work have been the subject of severe criticism by Dr. Edmund F. Merriam, editor of The Watchman, who claims that "every dollar's worth of free Bibles distributed by the American Bible Society cost nearly $4 to circulate;" that Testaments which once could be had from Canada, laid down in Boston at a little less than three cents, and which were sold at that price, can no longer be had, and that a similar book put out by the American Bible Society costs five cents; that the American Bible Society has an agreement with the British and Foreign Bible Society that they will not invade each other's field; that the Canadian Bible Society will not sell Bibles for gratuitous distribution in the United States, and that the American Bible Society is guilty of much other un-Christian and unbusinesslike practices. Much of these "revelations" is ancient history, the only new thing that we have been able to discover is that it is actually impossible to obtain in this country the penny Testament formerly supplied by the British and Foreign Bible Society.

Referring to the charge that the British and Foreign Bible Society has a working arrangement with the American Bible Society to control the prices of Bibles here officers of the English society are reported to have said: "We don't sell in the United States because we don't work there. We know of no trust. In every country to which we send Bibles we lose money. The only arrangement we have with the American Society is that we supply them at cost price. We leave the distribution to them. The statement that we have anything to do with a trust, if there be such a thing, is not true."

The American Bible Society might invite an investigation and bring its traducers to book.

ROTHSCHILD'S BOOK ON EXTINCT BIRDS.

THE HON. LIONEL WALTER ROTHSCHILD, according to a special cable despatch to the New York Sun, has been for a long time devoting part of his share of the Rothschild family's wealth to the production of one of the costliest books on record. The work will shortly be issued by Hutchinson & Co., of London.

Its subject is extinct birds. It aims to give accounts of all birds that have become extinct in historical times. The author, whose private natural history museum at Tring Park, Hertfordshire, is world famed, has spent about $100,000 on the books, while the Hutchinsons have expended more than $5000 for engraving blocks alone.

They have also been experimenting for years to obtain an imperishable paper, Mr. Rothschild wishing the work to endure for all time, because he thinks it improbable that the subject will ever be rehandled. It is stated that the Hutchinsons have now obtained for the plates paper so sure that it will take color printing without any coating and give perfect results. It costs about 36 cents a pound.

Only 300 copies of the English edition of the work will be printed. It will be sold for $125 a copy. Foreign editions will follow.

PLAYRIGHT AND COPYRIGHT.

MACMILLAN & Co., a short time ago, brought out a work entitled "Playright and Copyright in all Countries, Showing How to Protect a Play or a Book Throughout the World," by William Morris Colles and Harold Hardy. The book is intended to be a practical guide for authors, publishers and theatrical managers, and fills a decided want in providing a concise statement in ordinary language, avoiding, as far as possible, technical phrases, as to what must be done by an author before producing a play or a book in order to secure his rights not only in the country where his work is first published, but also in other countries where his work may subsequently find a market. While the work is written from an Englishman's standpoint, chiefly for English writers, the work will also be found extremely useful by citizens of countries outside the Copyright Union, especially by Americans. In an appendix are given the texts of the English Dramatic Copyright Act, 1833; the Copyright Act, 1842; the International Copyright Act, 1886; the Berne Convention, 1886; the Order in Council, November 28, 1887; the Additional Act of Paris, 1896; the Interpretative Declaration of Paris, 1896; the Order in Council, March 7, 1898; the U. S. A. Revised Statutes; the Act of March 3, 1905; Form of Application for Copyright Registration (U. S. A.); Information Circular, No. 33, (U. S. A.); Treaty between the United States and Japan; English Copyright Form of Registration, and the Australian Copyright Act, 1905.

COMMUNICATIONS.

THE HOLIDAY PUBLISHING COMPANY.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: Referring to announcement and advertisements in recent issues of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY regarding the change of name of the Holiday Publishing Company of Buffalo to the Berger Publishing Company, will you be kind enough to state in your journal that the Holiday Publishing Company, publishers of the Children's Magazine, are the owners of the corporate title of The Holiday Publishing Company.

The Holiday Publishing Company of New York still continues business under that name, publishing the best dollar magazine ever made for young children. The Buffalo company's inadvertent use of the name has caused considerable embarrassment to its rightful owners, especially as some of the announcements state "formerly Holiday Publishing Company" without further explanation.

Your publication of this explanation will be appreciated by Yours very truly,

HOLIDAY PUBLISHING COMPANY.

MORE LIGHT ON "HOW 'UNCLE TOM'S CABIN' WAS PUBLISHED."

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: Since in your issue of March 23 you refer to my father's (the late Henry Vizetelly) connection with the publishing of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in England, perhaps in fairness to his memory you will permit me to ask you to print a statement which he made of his connection with the work over his own signature several years before his death. As you will see, the man whom you quote as an authority was a very young man, much too young to have any personal knowledge of the matters about which he has written, and therefore all he has written should be taken cum grano salis.

My father wrote: "It must have been soon after this affair that I brought out, in conjunction with Salisbury the printer, who used to machine 'Readable Books' for me, and Clarke, who bound the volumes, the first edition published in England of Mrs. Beecher Stowe's world-famous romance, 'Uncle Tom's Cabin.' A year or two ago I found it necessary to tell the history of this reprint in a letter to the Literary World, the principal passages of which may be here quoted:

"I fail to see that any particular honor or merit is due to the person who first introduced 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' to the English public; still it may be as well to correct the misstatements contained in the letter you have published, signed Charles M. Clarke, who, if born at the time the incidents occurred, of which he speaks so positively from his own personal knowledge, could only have been a baby in long clothes, or, at most, a little boy in knickerbockers.

"The true circumstances connected with the issue of the English reprint of the book are these: In the first place no advance copy of the work was submitted to any London publisher, but Mr. Bogue received an ordinary copy of 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' from a young man in Putnam's New York house, accompanied by a letter stating that the book was selling rapidly in the States, and suggesting that Mr. Bogue should reprint it, and send him a trifle for his pains. Mr. Bogue, however, not caring to embark in cheap reprints of American authors, offered me the work for my series of 'Readable Books.'

"The American edition of 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' being in two stout volumes, I hesitated to run the risk of issuing the work at a shilling, and while I was considering what to do with it I received a visit from Messrs. Salisbury and Clarke, who, being well aware of the great success of the 'Readable Books' series, were constantly bothering me to suggest some further literary venture, which would provide work for their establishments and might be undertaken in partnership. To get rid of their importunities, I offered them to join with me in reprinting 'Uncle Tom's Cabin,' and it was agreed to produce an edition of the book in shares, each of us being responsible for a third of the cost.

"Mrs. Stowe's second title, 'Life Among the Lowly,' was changed by me to 'Negro Life in the Slave States of America,' and a writer, then little known, but who is now widely appreciated, both as journalist and essayist, wrote a preface to the work for the modest sum of two guineas. The book was printed crown 8vo size, and the price was half-a-crown.

"Although well advertised the volume—of which 2500 copies had been printed—proved a failure; but a rather singular circumstance contributed to its eventful [sic] success. In the 'Readable Books' series I had reprinted Curtis's 'Nile Notes,' much to the annoyance of Mr. Richard Bentley, who had a half-guinea edition of the work. 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' being advertised with both my own and Clarke's imprint, Mr. Bentley, by way of retaliation against me, I imagine, announced a shilling edition of the book. With the view of checkmating him I had a cover printed with 'Price one shilling' on it and got Clarke to do a copy of our edition in paper boards, trimming it as near to a foolscap 8vo as could be managed. I then sent the volume to Mr. Bentley, with my compliments, and a notification that the accompanying shilling edition of 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' was on the eve of publication. This induced Mr. Bentley to hold his hand, and as there was scarcely any sale of the book at half-a-crown in cloth, it was determined to work off the remaining sheets in paper boards at a shilling.

"Shortly after this had been decided I went abroad with Mr. Birket Foster and was absent for two or three months. On my return I found that 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' had been and still was the book which everybody was reading and talking about. After a reasonable delay I applied to Clarke for an account of the sales, when he referred me to Salisbury and Mr. S. O. Beeton, who, in the interim had joined Clarke and Salisbury in partnership. These gentlemen laughed at the idea of my asking for an account, told me that during my absence abroad they had paid my clerk for the work I had done in connection with the volume, and had also repaid to him the five pounds which had been forwarded to Putnam's young man, and that they declined to recognize me any further in the matter.

"I made short work of this impudent repudiation, told them I would give them a few hours to decide what they would do, but that if I did not receive a satisfactory proposal by noon, next day, I would at once file a bill in Chancery for an account. At 11 o'clock the following morning Mr. S. O. Beeton called upon me and offered me first £200 and then £300, provided I would waive an account. I replied that the extremest sum I had ever hoped to make out of my share of the 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' reprint was £500, and that after the dishonorable way in which I had been treated I was determined not to accept a penny less. Before the day expired I received the acceptances of Clarke, Salisbury and Beeton for the sum in question, and my connection with 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' thereupon ceased."

Very truly yours,

FRANK H. VIZETELLY.

POSTAL MATTERS.

THE NEW THIRD ASSISTANT POSTMASTER-GENERAL.

A. L. LAWSHE, of Indiana, on March 22, succeeded Edwin C. Madden as Third Assistant Postmaster-General. Mr. Lawshe has occupied a number of Government positions. He was appointed deputy auditor of the Post Office Department in 1897. Later he was made auditor in Cuba during the occupation of that island by American troops immediately following the Spanish war. He then became Government auditor in the Philippines.

Mr. Madden before retiring is reported to have given out a statement in which he said:

"I wish the commercial bodies and citizens who have supported and commended my work to understand that I am not leaving the task unfinished for any reason over which I myself had control, and that so far as they gave me their encouragement and support it is appreciated and it was helpful in a most discouraging task.

"My appointment in 1899 was secured through the recommendation of the railroad labor organizations, I myself being a member of one of them. I have had their support all along and in the serious conflicts which have taken place. But for their confidence and support I might long ago have been deposed, the interests affected adversely were so powerful. The accomplishments speak for themselves. Whatever the benefit to the public may be, some measure of appreciation is due the railroad men."

OBITUARY NOTES.

THE death of the eminent Orientalist and palæographer, Monsignor Antonio Ceriani, Prefect of the Biblioteca Ambrosiana, at the age of seventy-nine is announced from Milan. He was the son of a peasant, and his learning was mainly self-acquired, the only places of education he attended being the priests' seminaries. He had a profound knowledge of Syrian, Greek and Roman palæography, and was a contributor to the publications of the Palæographical Society. He became custodian of the library in 1854. His most important work was "Monumenta Sacra et Profana ex Codicibus præsertim Bibliothecæ Ambrosinæ," which he edited in nine volumes.

FRIEDRICH WILHELM BLASS, the foremost Greek scholar of our day, died suddenly at Halle, March 5, aged sixty-four, having been born at Osnabrück, January 22, 1843. He made his fame at once, for his first work, on Greek and especially on Attic eloquence (1865) took the learned world by storm. He was then called to revise edition after edition of the texts of the Attic orators, and from Kiel, where he held his first chair, he was promoted to Halle. Finding that the main body of the students there were theological, he threw himself into the study of the Greek Testament, and produced a grammar of that dialect (1896), as well as a critical edition of St. Luke's two works which made an epoch in their way. He was associated, from 1890, with papyrus discoveries from Greek Egypt and was able to apply his matchless skill and learning to the deciphering and the identifying of these widely-scattered fragments.

CONSTANTINE PETROVITCH POBIEDONOSTSEFF, who, as Procurator-General of the Holy Synod, was one of the most feared and unpopular men of Russia, died in St. Petersburg, March 23. He was born in Moscow in 1827, and was graduated in 1846 from the Imperial School of Jurisprudence at Moscow, where his father was an instructor. From 1859 to 1865 he held the chair of civil law in the University of Moscow, and in 1866 was appointed instructor in jurisprudence to the hereditary Grand Duke Nicholas. He afterwards exercised the function of tutor to Nicholas's younger brother, Alexander, and to various other grand dukes. In 1881 he was called to the post of Chief Procurator of the Holy Synod of Russia, a position he held until 1905, when he retired to private life. Pobiedonostseff was the author of several published works. Among them were "A Cursus of Civil Law," (three volumes,) "A Manual of Civil Law," "Historical Essays," "Outlines of History of the Orthodox Church," "Biographical Essays," "Pedagogical Essays," "Essays on the Feast Days of the Russian Church," and his translation into Russian of Thomas à Kempis's "The Imitation of Christ," of Le Play's "The Constitution of Humanity" and of St. Augustine's "Confessions." To English readers, however, his best known work is his "Moscovsky Sbornik," issued in 1898, and translated into German, French and English under the title of "Reflections of a Russian Statesman."

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

ONE item in the inventory of the estate of Professor George A. Wentworth, the author of the famous series of arithmetics, appraised at $502,372, is "copyrights $100,000."

DR. HENRY VAN DYKE, of Princeton, has withdrawn his resignation, declaring that, "owing to the pressure brought to bear upon him, he cannot allow personal preference to stand in the way of fulfilling the desires of the friends who appreciate his poor efforts."

WALTER SICHEL is engaged upon a biographical and critical study of Richard Brinsley Sheridan. The Sheridan family have placed a large amount of partially unexplored material at Mr. Sichel's disposal. Important facilities and documents have also been promised in other quarters. The book, upon which

Mr. Sichel has already been engaged for some time, should thus prove of definite value. It is to be published by Constable & Co., of London.

In a letter written by Marie Corelli August 4, 1892, to Stephen Massett, to be sold in the Crimmins collection of the Anderson Auction Company on April 8, the author says: "I am NOT the daughter of Charles Mackay and never was, but simply his adopted daughter, adopted under peculiar and extremely painful circumstances. . . . I am of Italian extraction . . . no relation whatever to the Mackay family." Indignantly disclaiming being married she continues, "I have made already . . . an ample fortune . . . what do I want with a husband?"

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Collecting is the title of a new illustrated weekly published at the offices 21 Grafton Street, Bond Street, W., London, Eng. Its object is to supply information for connoisseurs, collectors, experts and dealers, and for "lovers of the quaint, the rare and the precious." The first number is dated March 20.

The Atlantic Monthly for April contains among other articles that should interest the bookseller an excellent paper on the decay of poetry by J. F. A. Pyre, entitled "Byron in Our Day;" an informing essay on "Ferdinand Brunetiere," by Irving Babbitt; and an estimate of "Mr. Shaw as a Critic," by H. W. Boynton.

COMMEMORATING the quarter-century anniversary of the Electrical Review, the staff presented Charles W. Price, president and editor, with a beautiful silver loving cup on February 15. Thirty years ago Mr. Price was editor of the Barnesville (Ohio) Enterprise, going West in 1878, when he assisted in establishing the Topeka Daily Capital. He was one of the editors of this paper for several years. In 1885 he was called to New York City to take a position on the staff of the Electrical Review. He has been chief of staff and largest owner for the past twenty years.

OLD BOOK NOTES.

RARE SHAKESPEARE QUARTO.—Sotheby's will offer on April 20 the library of Major Sir Henry Mildmay. One of the rarities in this collection is a first quarto of Shakespeare's Sonnets, with the much-debated dedication beginning "To the onli Begetter of these insuing Sonnets." No perfect specimen has been offered at auction since 1864, when one fetched 215 guineas.

THE H. W. WEBB LIBRARY SOLD FOR $30,000.—The library of the late H. Walter Webb, former Vice-President of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad, was sold on March 22 at his home, Scarborough, N. Y., to George D. Smith, of New York City, for $30,000. Among the lot are a first edition of FitzGerald's version of the "Rubaiyat," published in 1859; a first edition of Gray's "Elegy;" a copy of the "Confessions of an English Opium Eater," published in 1822; three copies of the original editions of "Gulliver's Travels," published in 1726, and 1727; six volumes of "Tom Jones," 1749; two volumes of Dr. Samuel Johnson's "Rasselas," 1759; a first edition of Nathaniel Hawthorne's "Twice Told Tales," 1837; first editions of Lamb, Thackeray, Dickens, Tennyson, Emerson, Lowell, Whittier, Longfellow, Swift, Byron, Coleridge, William Morris, Fielding and Robert Browning, etc. The collection includes also the original deed which was drawn up in 1719 by the Assembly of New Jersey, fixing the boundary line between New Jersey and New York, and the original map drawn by the surveyors, showing the most northern branch of the Delaware River as surveyed by them. The document contains all the signatures of the various surveyors appointed by the two States, with the original marks and seals attached to the signatures.

THE LOUIS M. DILLMAN COLLECTION sold at Anderson's on the 21st inst., realized a total of $16,500. It comprised a remarkable collection of British and American authors of the early part of the nineteenth century and other rarities of later dates. The top price of the sale was $900, paid for a first edition of John Keats's "Poem," with Keats's autograph, "To my friends, the Miss Reynoldses [sic] J. K.," on the title-page. A first edition of "Pauline," Robert Browning's first book, was sold for $810. A copy of the first collected edition of John Milton's "Poems," 12mo, London, 1645, and the first book bearing Milton's name, was bought by Walter Hill, of Chicago, for $490. The rare first edition of Shelley's "Queen Mab," containing his name as the printer on the title-page, was sold for $650. A first edition of Keats's "Endymion" went for $475. The first edition of Lamb's "Tales from Shakespeare," went for $800. A fine copy of the privately printed "Sonnets," by Elizabeth Barrett Browning, fetched $300, and a first edition of "Cleon," by Robert Browning, brought $100. "Hours of Idleness," by Lord Byron, first edition, on large paper, sold for $160. A tall, uncut copy of the first edition of Coleridge's "Poems on Various Subjects" fetched $100. A first edition of Edward Fitzgerald's "Rubáiyát of Omar Khayyám" sold for $335. Keats's "Lamia," first edition, went for $200. A first edition of Charles Lamb's "Mrs. Leicester's School" fetched $125, and Charles Lloyd's "Poems on the Death of Priscilla Farmer" sold for $180.

THE VAN ANTWERP COLLECTION NETS $81,755.—At the sale of the W. C. Van Antwerp collection at Sotheby's on March 22, 23, an original Kilmarnock edition of Burns's poems sold for $3500. A copy of the exceedingly rare original Caxton Cicero "On Old Age" fell to Quaritch at $3000, some $1250 more than was given for a copy in the Earl of Jersey sale twenty-three years ago. It is interesting to recall that the Jersey copy was sold in 1766 for two guineas. Next in importance was William Hubbard's "Narrative of Troubles with Indians in New England," a fine and perfect copy, which had been the property of the family of Nathaniel Hawthorne more than 225 years, thus making it doubly interesting from an American point of view. This was sold to Quaritch for $2250. A notable feature of the sale was the remarkable prices obtained for Goldsmith items. A copy of the first issue of the first edition of "The Traveller" fell to B. F. Stevens for $1080, a record for this rare book. The first edition of the "Vicar of Wakefield" realized £59. A similar edition of "The Good Natured Man" went for £76, and an entirely uncut copy of "She Stoops to Conquer," believed to be unique and in the original blue paper wrappers, for £90. A copy of Grey's "Elegy," 1751, sold for £205, another record price. A first folio of Shakespeare from the Rowfant library was bought by Quaritch for $18,000. At a previous sale it brought $8600. Other folios brought $3250, $1750 and $1000. A copy of Izaak Walton's "Compleat Angler" sold for $6450. A copy of Sir Philip Sidney's "Arcadia" brought $1565.

SIR PHILIP SIDNEY'S "ARCADIA."—Bertram Dobell, the well-known London antiquary and bookseller, writes as follows to the London Athenæum: "Most of your readers, I suppose, will be glad to know that I have recently discovered a very remarkable manuscript copy of Sir Philip Sidney's 'Arcadia.' It is a volume of 226 folios, or 452 pages. It contains a complete copy of the 'Arcadia' in five 'Bookes or Actes,' and also 'Dyvers and Sondry Sonetts.' Although there must have been a number of manuscript copies of the book in existence soon after it was written, no other copy save that which is before me appears to be now extant. This alone would make it uniquely interesting; but its value does not lie only in its rarity. It is not merely an 'Arcadia;' it is, I believe, the 'Arcadia.' It differs greatly from the printed texts. It contains much matter which is not to be found in the latter, while it omits much that appears in them. It gives us five new poems, and many fresh readings in the known poems. Among the 'Dyvers and Sondry Sonetts' there is also an unknown poem. I have not yet been able to study the manuscript sufficiently to be able to see the exact relation which it bears to the printed copies; but I have found a good many indications which point to its being Sir Philip Sidney's first draft of the work. But whether it is this, or whether it is a recast of the first form of the romance, it is without doubt a most remarkable 'find.' Short of the discovery of a Shakspearean manuscript it is hard to imagine a more valuable treasure trove of its kind. Two things are plain—firstly, that it should find a place in one of our great public libraries; and secondly, that it should be printed with as little delay as possible."

BUSINESS NOTES.

DENVER, COLO.—The dissolution is reported of the Foitz-Hardy Book, Stationery and Art Co.

NEW YORK CITY.—S. B. Luyster, Jr., is selling out his stock and will close his office at 66 Nassau Street after May 1. He will after that issue catalogues from Spring Valley, N. Y., and solicit orders for current and scarce books.

NEW YORK CITY.—Theodore E. Schulte, 132 East Twenty-third Street, has purchased the stock, fixtures, lists of customers, goodwill, etc., of S. F. McLean & Co., who for over sixteen years have been in the book business. S. F. McLean & Co. are retiring from the booktrade and Mr. McLean will give his entire time and attention to real estate, in which line he has been increasingly interested for the past two years. All sales made by S. F. McLean & Co. prior to March 12 are payable to S. F. McLean at No. 46 Bible House, and all debts owing by S. F. McLean & Co. will be met by the same at the same address.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE SAALFIELD PUBLISHING CO. are marketing a novelty in the shape of a muslin cutout "Teddy Bear," which stands about fifteen inches high when made up.

THE B. F. JOHNSON PUBLISHING CO., of Richmond, Va., are about to publish "Half Hours in Southern History," by John Leslie Hall; also, Professor E. D. N. Painter's "Poets of Virginia."

THE BURROWS BROTHERS COMPANY have about ready the first volume of a "History of the Society of Jesus in North America," from the first colonization till 1645, by Thomas Hughes.

THE C. M. CLARK PUBLISHING COMPANY will publish on April 15 a new book by Charles Felton Pidgin, entitled "The Toymakers," a captivating and merry tale of an old toymaker who has a hobby for magical and electrical experiments.

L. C. PAGE & COMPANY will bring out immediately "The Chronicles of Martin Hewitt," by Arthur Morrison, the author of "Martin Hewitt, Investigator," and they will publish on April 1 W. D. McCrackan's "The Italian Lakes," the publication of which has been delayed for the inclusion of some unusual photographs the author has recently obtained.

F. MARION CRAWFORD'S latest manuscript, entitled "The Prima Donna," has been secured by Munsey's Magazine. The scenes of the story are laid in New York and London, and it opens with a sensational act in the New York Metropolitan Opera House. The story is a sequel to "Fair Margaret," and will be published in book form in the fall by the Macmillan Company.

D. C. HEATH & Co. have in press "A Progressive Spanish Reader" for beginners in school or college, by Professor Carlos Bransby, of the University of California. It consists of short stories—at first mere anecdotes, well graded and supplied with exercises in conversation and composition, notes and a vocabulary. It is brief, and will serve to prepare the way for edited texts.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have added to their illustrated College Monographs "King's College, Cambridge," by C. R. Fay; to their English Men of Science series, "Thomas H.

Huxley," by J. R. Ainsworth Davis; to Everyman's Library, "Speeches and Letters of Abraham Lincoln," with an introduction by James Bryce, and to their Favorite Classics, "The Poems of Emily Brontë," with an introduction by Arthur Symons.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY publish this week "Sketches from Normandy," by Louis Becke, who in this book turns away from his favorite haunts on the South Seas and deals with the people in the North of France, telling most charmingly of the inhabitants and their ways. They have also ready this week the work on "The Old Engravers of England," by Malcolm C. Salaman, which our printer last week persisted in translating into Solomon.

THE UNITED STATES TREASURY DEPARTMENT has just promulgated new Treasury and Post-Office regulations governing foreign mail importations, forming "Department Circular No. 17, Division of Customs." The circular has been prepared for the use of officers of the customs and others interested, and covers copyrighted articles as well as all other classes of articles imported through the mails. It is therefore of particular value to the booktrade. The circular, to which we will refer in detail in a future issue, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Treasury.

THE COLLECTOR AND ART CRITIC COMPANY, New York City, has brought out "Whistler Notes and Footnotes, and Other Memoranda," by A. E. G., essays on Whistler and his work originally published in various magazines in this country, London and Paris. In England the edition of the book, published by Elkin Matthews, is for the present suppressed because the executrix of Whistler's estate has taken objection to the use on the cover and title-page of the book of the well-known Whistler butterfly. Some lawyers say that legally the executrix is quite within her rights.

PAUL ELDER & COMPANY announce for spring publication "The Ministry of Beauty," ethical essays on love and service, by Stanton Davis Kirkham; "Where Dwells the Soul Serene," by the same author; the "Psychological Year Book," quotations for everyday needs, compiled by Janet Young; "Sonnets of Heredia," a limited edition of the translation by Edward Robeson Taylor, with additional notes; a new edition of "Impressions of Ukyo-ye," the school of Japanese print artists, by Dora Amsden; also, some wall cards—"Weaving of Life's Fabric," by Agnes Greene Foster; "Then Away with Longing, and Ho! for Labor;" and Henry Van Dyke's "Foot Path to Peace."

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY will bring out shortly "The Garden Month by Month," a book of flower culture by Mabel Cabot Sedgwick. Early next month they will publish Arthur W. Marchmont's Russian story, "In the Cause of Freedom"; and for May publication they announce "The Star of Valhalla," by Myra Gross, a story of the Christianizing of Norway; "The Nutrition of Man," by Prof. Russell H. Chittenden, of Yale, a book on food values; Dr. D. S.

Sager's more practical book on a kindred subject, "The Art of Living in Good Health;" also, Dr. C. W. Saleeby's book entitled "Worry," explanatory of its effect on the human mechanism.

FORMER Senator Stephen M. Griswold, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who has been connected with Plymouth Church for fifty-five years and is the oldest surviving male member of the congregation, has compiled a history of that famous church, and it will soon be published in book form with the title "Half a Century in Plymouth Church." Fifty-three years ago Mr. Griswold became an usher in Plymouth Church and he has retained that office ever since. He has never been absent from his post a single Sunday except through illness or absence from the city. He was a close friend of Henry Ward Beecher's, and his forthcoming volume will contain many interesting reminiscences of the famous preacher.

JAMES WESTELL, the oldest of London's many and world-renowned second-hand booksellers, according to the London correspondent of the New York Times, has retired from business, and the shop in New Oxford Street, which was for forty years a haunt of Gladstone, is closed. Lord Macauley, Edward Freeman, J. R. Green, Cardinals Newman and Manning, and Dr. Pusey were among the frequenters of Westell's shop. Both Bulwer and his son were also customers of Westell, and the old collector of books has always believed that his first shop, off Tottenham Court Road, is the one described in "My Novel." Mr. Westell's son succeeds to his business, and will have a new shop along with the other second-hand book dealers, in Charing Cross Road.

WILLIAM J. HAY, at John Knox's House, Edinburgh, has published an interesting book entitled "The Old Quadrangle, Edinburgh University MCM-MCMV.," essays dealing with the civitas life of the Edinburgh student, written by four graduates, G. F. Barbour, William Lawson, A. F. Giles and A. F. Whyte, son of Dr. Whyte of Free St. George's. All were brilliant students, and their book is not only reminiscent but helpful to those who intend becoming students at Edinburgh, as the regimen there differs considerably from that of other universities. But even for the casual reader the volume will have a charm not easily resisted. The frontispiece is from the pen of Dr. Otto Schapp, lecturer on German—for as yet the university has no chair.

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY announce a reprinting of the ten small volumes of "The World's Famous Orations," edited by William Jennings Bryan; Francis W. Halsey, associate. The history of this publication is that the first printing of 30,000 sets was covered by orders before the books were off the press, and a second printing of 20,000 sets were ordered immediately. The 50,000 volumes in all have now been sold and a third printing is being ordered. The volumes contain 300 orations of 270 orators, many of the number, especially the orations of ancient Greece and Rome, being practically unobtainable by the average reader outside of this edition. They have also in press a new edition of the well-known "Travellers' Handbook," by Josephine Tozier. This has been rewritten in part and almost entirely reset.

CUMIN & MASSON, Lyons, France, announce a very important sale at reduced prices of the remaining copies of the editions de luxe of Guy de Maupassant's "La Maison Tellier" and Jerome Doucet's "Contes de Haute Lisse." These remainders will be sold as a whole or separately, and extra reductions will be made according to quantity taken. "La Maison Tellier" is an octavo volume of 270 pages, with eighty illustrations by René Lelong, engraved on wood by G. Lemoine. There are 20 copies on Japan paper and 20 copies on Chinese paper. There is also an original design of Lelong's to be bound with the volume and proofs of the wood engravings with remarques. The "Contes de Haute Lisse" is a quarto volume, with sixty colored illustrations by Alfred Garth Jones. Of this there are 60 copies on Japan paper.

THE MERCHANTS' HELPS PUBLISHING CO., Delhi, N. Y., announce for early publication the following new books and new editions: A new and enlarged edition of "Talks by the Old Storekeeper," with five new talks added, full of good live store information. "The Clerks' Book," a book of pithy paragraphs for the clerk's information, and good talks on subjects of the most vital interest to the employes of the store; "The Merchants' Success System," a set of thirty lessons on storekeeping, treating all departments of success making in the retail business; also, "John Martin's Clerks," a noveltie of business life in a live, up-to-date New York State town, sandwiched in with which is a great deal of suggestive matter for the clerk who wants to know how he can better his conditions and make himself worth more money to himself and to his employer.

OLIVER DITSON COMPANY, Boston, have added to their valuable Musicians Library "Twenty Piano Compositions by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart," selected and edited by Carl Reinecke, of Leipzig, the foremost living interpreter of Mozart's piano works. The compositions include: Two minuets, (No. 1, in G-major, and No. 6, in D-major,) the "Allegro einer Sonate," four sonatas, four fantasias, the Adagio in D-major, twelve variations upon the romance "Je suis Lindor," nine variations upon a minuet by Duport, a suite "A Little Gigue," two rondos, a "Little Rondo," and a Fugue in G-minor. The literary apparatus consists of an essay on Mozart's life and work, and a word concerning execution, by Reinecke, given in German and in an English translation by Nathan Haskell Dole, and a bibliography of works on Mozart in English, German and French and notable contributions to magazines.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & COMPANY will publish on April 6 "The Price of Silence," a romance of modern New Orleans, by Mrs. M. E. M. Davis, author of "The Queen's Garden;" "The Gate of Appreciation," by Carleton Noyes, a book of art thought for the layman; "A Theory of Pure Design," by Denman W. Ross, lecturer on the subject at Harvard, a work describing harmony, rhythm and balance; Earl Dean Howard's "The Cause and Extent of the Recent Industrial Progress in Germany," covering the past twenty years and analyzing the German system of technical and commercial education and the system of industrial and social labor legislation; also, a special limited edition of "The Familiar Letters of James Howell," in four volumes, with an introduction by Agnes Repplier. They will bring out on April 17, Kate Douglas Wiggin's latest book on "the nicest child in American literature," "New Chronicles of Rebecca." Rebecca's old friends figure largely in these episodes of her life in Riverboro, and the story is full of human kindness and winning realism.

JOHN LANE COMPANY, 110-114 West 32d Street, New York City, have ready this week "Women of the Second Empire," by Frederic Loliée, illustrated with 51 reproductions, three of them photogravures, from contemporary prints, portraits, etc., of the beauties of the Court of Napoleon III. This is an intimate account of a neglected side of French history of the period, drawn from first-hand sources, such as unpublished memoirs, letters and conversations with persons who took part in the events or who were intimately connected with those who did. They have also ready "Practical Wood Carving," by Eleanor Rowe, with 114 illustrations from photographs and 55 from line drawings of old and modern examples. The author has been for twenty years manager of the School of Art Wood Carving at South Kensington. Some of the topics are "The Wood-Carver's Outfit, Woods, Tools and Construction;" "Low Relief in Flat Work, etc.;" "Modelling in High Relief;" "Gothic Tracery and Symbolism;" "Gothic, Renaissance and Jacobean Mouldings;" "Lettering, Pierced Carving, etc."

SMALL, MAYNARD & Co., who have removed from Cambridge to 15 Beacon Street, Boston, announce Mrs. Helen Philbrook Patten's "Intimations of Immortality," which originally was to have been ready for the holiday season of 1906. Mrs. Patten's book has an introduction by Laurens Maynard, and a biographical and descriptive index, and reference to its contents is facilitated by classification under the headings, "From the Bibles of Humanity," "The Testimony of the Ancients," "The Speculations of Philosophy," "The Deductions of Science," "The Voice of the Church," and "The Vision of the Poet." Among other anthologies in preparation by this firm are Laurens Maynard's "Latter Day Love Sonnets," a sequence which, it is said, could hardly follow in happier order had each poem been especially composed for such arrangement, and "The Way of Childhood," verses about children, arranged by Miss E. Maynardier. They are also planning a Pocket Book Series, and already have two books nearly ready for issue, "The Pocket Whitman" and "Early American Humorists."

The authors included in the "Early American Humorists" belong to the period of John Phoenix, Artemus Ward, Josh Billings, Petroleum V. Nasby, "Danbury" Bailey, and their rivals, the period when more than one prosperous weekly was sustained, and many a daily paper was made prosperous by its humorous column.

THE GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE, Washington, D. C., has just published for the Library of Congress the "Calendar of the Correspondence of George Washington, Commander-in-Chief of the Continental Army with the Continental Congress." The Papers of George Washington were transferred by executive order dated March 9, 1903, from the Department of State to the Library of Congress. The large number and great importance of the papers in this collection, to which have been added the Washington materials already in the Library, have called for a series of calendars, of which this is the first. It deals only with the correspondence that passed between the General and the Continental Congress. It includes not only the letters themselves, but the papers and documents inclosed and references to the action taken upon them by the Congress. For purposes of history and biography they will always have a notable and imperishable interest, embodying in no small measure the history of the Revolution and the acts of the leading men of that time. The calendar has been prepared by John C. Fitzpatrick, of the Division of Manuscripts, and follows closely the methods used in the Calendar of the Franklin collection. It comprises 741 pages, and contains 31 facsimile reproductions of the writing of the members of Washington's military family, his secretaries and aids-de-camp. These illustrations will form a convenient guide for identifying the writing of such military letters of Washington as bear only his signature.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplayed advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their Communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash.]

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," book-sellers should take the usual precautions, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

India Paper Edition, Red Letter Edition, Regular Editions, Sunday-School Scholars' Bibles

Nearly five years ago we were invited to become associated with those Bible publishers who are governed by an agreement to maintain high prices. We refused to do so. The wisdom of our refusal, and its importance to booksellers, becomes apparent when at this time we are able to say that our Bible business is entirely satisfactory, and Bibles of equal quality to ours cannot be purchased elsewhere at prices less than from 25 to 50 per cent. more than we ask for them. JUST THINK THIS OVER.

Any of our books can be purchased of us direct or of your jobber if more convenient to you. Don't pay Dictionary Trust or Bible Combination prices for Dictionaries or Bibles. Buy our books and make more money.
